

Dear Case Preparatory Parents/Guardians,

Good afternoon! Welcome to Case Preparatory! My name is Diane Johnson, and I am the principal here at Case Preparatory. I am very excited for this opportunity and I am looking forward to meeting all of you in person. I have been in education for over 20 years and have been able to experience both teaching and leadership at the elementary, middle, and high school level. Most recently, I served as the Special Education Coordinator for CCHO. I obtained my Master's degree in Educational Administration from Ashland University and I have my Superintendent License.

We are really looking forward to this upcoming school year! Our school year is going to look a little different compared to previous years. We have offered our families three different learning modalities to choose from. We are working tremendously hard to make sure that our students have a safe and secure environment. Regardless of the learning option chosen, we will continue to offer a top-notch education to every child. At Case Preparatory, we provide an excellent education that is personalized, relevant, and provides opportunities for students to create a better world through global understanding and respect.

We have strong core values that define who we are at Case Preparatory. They are: Integrity, Equality, Responsibility, Compassion, and Respect. You will see these core values interwoven throughout our building.

We also embrace the power of having strong parent and community partnerships. I look forward to sitting down with all of you throughout the year and listening to what is important when it comes to your child's education. I am eager to begin the school year and look forward to having an incredible year!

Sincerely,
